10.30 – 12.50 World Leaders Investment Summit

Main Plenary Hall

How can investment foster sustainable development?

Government and corporate leaders from across the world will assess the challenges and the opportunities that they must deal with, faced with the aftermath of the global economic and financial crisis and the ever-growing imperatives of climate change. From their different perspectives, the leaders will discuss what governments can do to foster sustainable growth and employment through international investment, and what companies can do to ensure their contributions to a long-term and far-reaching development process in the countries in which they invest. Panellists will also consider how international investment can help both countries and corporations to win the new green race. The summit will provide participants with a rich, solutions-oriented discussion, drawing on the insights of the leading decision-makers present.

Questions to be addressed include:

- How can global FDI, economic growth and development be brought back on track?
- How does the new international geography of international investment impact on development?
- How are companies revising their strategies to adapt to the changing competitive landscape in globalized industries?
- How do governments adjust their investment policies to strengthen regulatory oversight while promoting and facilitating FDI?
- How can countries and corporations work together to win the green race?

Panellists include:

- Dr. Supachai Panitchpakdi, Secretary-General of UNCTAD
- H.E. Mr. Angel Marin, Vice-President of Bulgaria
- H.E. Mr. John Dramani Mahama, Vice-President of Ghana
- H.E. Mr. Theodoros Pangalos, Vice-President of Greece
- H.E. Mr. Delroy Chuck, Speaker, House of Representatives, Jamaica
- H.E. Mr. Miyegombo Enkhbold, Deputy Prime Minister of Mongolia
- H.E. Mr. Luis Giampietri Rojas, Vice President of Peru

Participation is open to all participants attending the WIF 2010.

13.00 – 15.00 Networking Lunch “Food for thought”

Dining Hall

Creating synergies among investment stakeholders

This luncheon will bring together all participants attending the WIF 2010 in a manner designed to allow for interactive exchange among the various investment stakeholders. At each table will be a mix of investors, policy-makers, negotiators, practitioners, lawyers, academia, and civil society, and each table will have next to the menu for “Thoughts for food” also a menu providing "Food for thought", i.e. a number of questions that are meant to stimulate the discussion during the luncheon.

13.00 – 15.00 Investment Advisory Council, 8th Meeting

(Closed luncheon event, by invitation only)

Investing in the Millennium Development Goals

The 8th Meeting of the UNCTAD-International Chamber of Commerce (ICC) Investment Advisory Council will brainstorm on practical means to address the foreseeable shortfall in achieving the MDGs through investment. In an informal setting, participants will shed light on this issue as well as other related investment-development issues, including food security, from various angles, including from the perspective of governments, leading TNCs, international organizations and renowned academic think-tanks, with a view towards coming up with concrete proposals that can be put in place within the foreseeable future. The outcomes of the event are meant to be fed into the process of the United Nations MDG Summit in late September, and the 4th United Nations Conference on LDCs in 2011.

Attended by Heads of State and Ministers, executives of global companies, and heads of international institutions.

15.00 – 18.30 Ministerial Round Table

ROOM 1 F

Revisiting Investment Policies

Ministers dealing with investment and leaders of international organizations will engage in a high-profile debate on today's challenges of ensuring coherence in investment policy-making, both nationally and internationally. The round table will provide for a sharing of visions, strategies and practical experiences in countering the threat of investment protectionism and in maximizing FDI-induced development outcomes through appropriate balancing between investment liberalisation and regulation, and ensuring policy coherence.

Questions to be addressed include:

- Which kind of regulatory and institutional frameworks are required to ensure that investment liberalization generates a maximum of development enhancing effects?
- How can conflicts among national and international investment-related policies be avoided and synergies enhanced to ensure that such policies contribute rather than undermine efforts towards achieving sustainable development?
- How can possible tendencies towards investment protectionism be effectively stemmed in the wake of the financial crisis?
- What positive and negative effects do international investment rules and policies have on domestic investment?

The event will be co-chaired by H.E. Mr. John Dramani Mahama, Vice-President of Ghana, and H.E. Mr. Robert D. Hormats, Under Secretary for Economic, Energy and Agricultural Affairs, USA.

10.00 – 18.00 International Investment Agreements Conference 2010 (by invitation)

Room 1D

International investment agreements in the new era

The 2010 IIA Conference will have three thematic clusters that reflect the key development challenges facing the current international investment regime (consisting of over 5,980 international investment agreements at all levels) in generating tangible development benefits in the post-crisis investment landscape. These clusters concern (i) the interaction of the IIA regime with other key and emerging global policy areas such as international financial regulation, climate change and other public policies, (ii) the systemic evolution of the IIA regime and its new direction, and (iii) the resultant need for closer international cooperation and a more coordinated and collective approach in IIA matters.

Questions to be addressed include:

- How to ensure coherence between IIAs and new international policies on climate change, financial regulation and other public policies?
- How to reconcile investor protection with public policies? How is this being addressed in recent IIA developments (including new models)?
- How to preserve predictability for States and investors?
- How to address concerns about the legitimacy of the investor-State disputes system?
- Are new mechanisms for international cooperation needed? And if so, what would they look like?

Setting the stage: opening remarks by Mr. James Zhan, Director, Division on Investment and Enterprise, UNCTAD.

10.30 – 18.00 Sustainable Stock Exchanges 2010 (by invitation)

Room 2A01

Building responsible capital markets

This executive dialogue will bring together CEOs of stock exchanges, large institutional investors and issuers, along with senior securities regulators, to examine how stock exchanges can promote sustainable business practices and responsible capital markets. The dialogue is co-organized by UNCTAD, the Global Compact and the Principles for Responsible Investment.

10.30 – 11.00 Opening

Facilitator: Mr. James Zhan, Director, Investment & Enterprise Division, UNCTAD

Keynotes:

- Dr. Supachai Panitchpakdi, Secretary General, UNCTAD
- H.E. Mr. Fulin Shang, Chairman, China Securities Regulatory Commission, China

11.00 – 12.30 Session 1:

Viewing sustainability from a policy perspective: the role of capital markets.

This session examines the role key actors in the capital markets can play to promote sustainable development. The session will review current best practices and highlight challenges and opportunities for the future.

This session will address the following questions:

- How are asset-owners and managers integrating environmental, social and governance (ESG) issues into their investment policies?
- What role can stock exchanges play: experiences with ESG indices and disclosure rules?
- How has the financial crisis changed the way regulators view systemic risk, and how does this relate to long term sustainability risks?

Moderator: Mr. Georg Kell, Executive Director, United Nations Global Compact

Speakers:

- H.E. Ms. Jane Diplock, Chairman, International Organisation of Securities Commissions
- Mr. Paul Abberley, CEO, Aviva Investors London, United Kingdom

- Mr. Mervyn King, Chairman of the Board, Global Reporting Initiative, Senior Counsel and former Judge on the Supreme Court of South Africa, South Africa

- Ms. Carolyn Ervin, Director, Directorate for Financial and Enterprise Affairs, OECD

12.30 – 14.00 Networking Lunch and UNCTAD Investment Promotion Awards (see above)

14.00 – 15.00 Session 2

Finding the best balance between voluntary exchange-led initiatives and regulation

This session looks at how individual markets can find the best balance between voluntary and regulatory initiatives to strengthen ESG practices among listed companies. ESG frameworks in most countries are a mixture of voluntary recommendations and regulatory requirements. Achieving the best balance between these two policy tools can depend on a market's specific circumstances.

This session will address the following questions:

- Are there certain subjects that should always be addressed through voluntary initiatives or through regulation? Is there a third way: voluntary requirements?
- What is the appropriate role for regulators and what should be left to investors or stock exchanges?
- Is there a difference between enforcing standards of reporting and standards of behaviour?

Moderator: Mr. Paul Clements-Hunt, Head, UNEP Finance Initiative

Speakers:

- Mr. Jochen Sanio, President, Federal Financial Supervisory Authority, Germany
- Mr. Liang Geng, Chairman, Shanghai Stock Exchange, China
- Mr. Michel Maquil, President & CEO of the Luxembourg Stock Exchange, Luxembourg
- Mr. Donald McDonald, Director of Trustee Board, BT Pension Scheme, and Chairman of the Board, Principles for Responsible Investment (PRI)

15.00 – 15.30 Networking Coffee

15.30 – 16.30 Session 3

Breakout sessions: working groups on the role of exchanges, investors and regulators

During this session participants will be separated into three groups - exchanges, investors, and regulators - in order to discuss the various challenges and solutions to the sustainable stock exchanges agenda. After the breakout session, the three roundtable facilitators will be asked to report back during the next session.

Roundtable facilitators will moderate the discussion based on the following questions:

- What are the main challenges for taking this agenda forward?
- After hearing about recent developments since the 2009 Sustainable Stock Exchanges Conference, how can we build upon the momentum over the next year? What next steps can we collectively take as a group of exchanges, regulators, or investors?
- How do we mainstream the ESG agenda amongst our peers, particularly the exchanges, regulators, or investors who are not currently in the room?

16.30 – 17.30 Session 4

Strengthening collaboration to improve the ESG practices of listed companies

This session examines how exchanges, investors and regulators can strengthen their collaboration to further improve the ESG practices of listed companies. Facilitators from each breakout session will present on their main takeaways from the roundtable discussions and proposals for new partnerships and work streams will be discussed.

This session will address the following questions:

- What are the key takeaways from the breakout session?
- How can all three groups work together to promote responsible capital markets?
- What tools, resources, or platforms do exchanges, regulators, and investors need to take this agenda forward?

Moderator: Mr. James Gifford, Executive Director, Principles for Responsible Investment

Speakers:

- Mr. Paul Druckman, Chairman, Prince of Wales Accounting for Sustainability, United Kingdom
- Ms. Selvarany Rasiah, Chief Regulatory Officer, Bursa Malaysia, Malaysia
- Mr. Kris Douma, Head of Responsible Investment & Active Ownership, M&S Services N.V., Netherlands
- Ms. Song Liping, President, Shenzhen Stock Exchange, China
